Brief Description

The Joint Bachelor of Arts is an interdisciplinary programme at TU Darmstadt. It consists of the studies of two different subjects/components.

Primary object of Political Science is the state, its structure and its functions. As systems and structures are usually complex, Political Studies have to be interdisciplinary in principle and involve neighbouring humanities and social studies such as history, law, business, sociology, philosophy, etc. in its questions and research. An excellent command of the German written and spoken language is a central requirement.
