Accommodation
International students have the opportunity to experience the Brazilian way of life through a homestay program.

• Rio de Janeiro, the marvelous city, is an exciting place surrounded by a lush tropical forest and conveniently located by the Atlantic Ocean.

• The distinct contrast between the modern and post-modern architecture with the green of the rain forest and the liveliness of the beach atmosphere in the background paint a unique scenery.

• PUC-Rio is located in Gávea, a pleasant and residential neighborhood, in the South zone of Rio de Janeiro.

• The campus was built in a protected natural reserve. Different species of trees, birds, small monkeys and squirrels can be found and offer an extraordinary environment.

• Several restaurants, cafeterias, cafés, ATMs and a bookstore provide significant convenience for all students.

• The University is easily accessed via a number of bus lines, the subway system and bike route.

• Several attractions are located within walking distance from PUC-Rio, including the Botanical Garden, Leblon and Ipanema beaches, and different cultural centers.

Brazilian Seminars (“Summer School”)
A 50 hour interdisciplinary program, with lectures and off-class activities that offers a panorama on Brazil’s different aspects, ranging from culture to entrepreneurship. Offered every July for the duration of 12 business days.

 Portuguese as a second Language
Portuguese language is offered throughout the academic semester and also as a 90h pre-term intensive course, held before the regular semester. Five levels of proficiency are available, from basic to advanced.
