and, in the event of admission, enrolling in the degree programme(s) as well as independently exercising all rights and obligations as a member of the university and carrying out all associated legal transactions as well as acts similar to legal transactions, insofar as they are directly or indirectly connected with the commencement and implementation of the degree programme or membership of the university (general consent).

This general consent also expressly includes independent participation in voluntary offers and events of the university, in particular participation in university sports or in events organised by the student body.

I/We acknowledge that in the event of enrolment, the above-mentioned child will receive user authorisation for the library as well as the IT services (including internet access). Access to the internet is unrestricted. The TU Darmstadt does not maintain any personnel or technical precautions in this regard to ensure compliance with the protection of underaged persons.

I/We acknowledge that the supervisory duties of the legal guardian towards the above-mentioned child as an underaged person are not incumbent on the university, its members and relatives or other persons authorised by it but remain unchanged with me/us.

With the general consent, I/we further agree that all declarations and notifications of the university will be sent directly and effectively to the above-mentioned child.
